General Practice North West Tasmania Implements MHAGIC

Melbourne, Victoria – 16 January 2008: General Practice North West (GPNW) in Tasmania has successfully implemented Global Health's (ASX: GLH) mental health clinical system MHAGIC (Mental Health Assessment Generation and Information Collection).

General Practice North West is one of three state divisions that fall under the state body, General Practice Tasmania Limited.

MHAGIC will support General Practice North West's Clinical Services in areas of assessment, review, counselling, therapy, education, referral to a community based service, group programs and advocacy.

The Clinical Services offered by General Practice North West give specialist care to people suffering from a mental health condition or illness who are referred by their GP.

MHAGIC is supporting General Practice North West's Mental Health Program by improving the accessibility of mental health services in rural and remote areas, providing local solutions for local problems. The target population for the program includes Aboriginal individuals and their families, farming communities and young adults.

General Practice North West has recently implemented ReferralNet, Global Health's secure messaging solution, as part of the state-wide contract awarded by General Practice Tasmania to Global Health.

ReferralNet is integrated within the MHAGIC system, enabling specialists to manage referrals to and from MHAGIC.

Gary North, IT/IM Program Officer for General Practice North West said "The initial marketing package sent to us clearly showed that this package covered every part of client management and reporting we required. The installation was trouble-free and the support from the technical team has been second to none. The product has lived up to our expectations."
