

Correction – Global Health and Asthma Australia Partnership Announcement

In the recent media release on our partnership with Asthma Australia, the version published was not the approved version from Asthma Australia.

Consequently, we have updated the media release on our websites, and notified all media who published content on the release.

We apologise sincerely to Asthma Australia for the error, and will ensure to take the necessary steps in the future so it does not occur again.

Here you will find the link to the final approved Media Release on the partnership:

Location of error:

Michele Goldman Quote:

“Lifecard is all about more complete information with a holistic picture that enables more insightful conversations between a patient and their doctor. We see this partnership as a great opportunity for people with asthma to embrace a health tool, and another step toward individualised, person centred health care.”

Correction:

Michele Goldman Quote:

Lifecard presents a way to facilitate information exchange and conversation between a person and their doctor, providing a more holistic picture. We see this partnership as an opportunity for people with asthma to trial a health data tool, which will be a step toward individualised, person-centred health care.”
